LISTING SUMMARY

THE POINT ON THE ISLAND — 270 DEGREES OF WATER FRONTAGE. 186 FEET WATER FRONTAGE.

There are waterfront homes, and there are homes that command the water. Sited at a rare tip of an Applehead Island peninsula, this residence holds the single most coveted position on the island—where the land runs out and the water takes over on three sides. The video is superb check out the link below.

Lake LBJ unfolds in a full 180 degrees of unobstructed open water. Add the 90 degrees on the canal and the home claims a remarkable 270 degrees of total water frontage. The canal is 180 feet wide.

Rebuilt as a contemporary residence in 2022 and reimagined, updated and repaired by the current owner to an exacting standard—clean white volumes, warm white-oak floors, black steel window walls and soaring vaulted ceilings that pull the lake inside. A level of investment that could not be replicated today for $7 million.

The gourmet kitchen is a genuine masterpiece: a large center island, double Wolf ovens, built-in refrigeration, wine cooler, custom cabinetry, expansive stone surfaces, a separate butler's pantry and electric shades that glide open to the lake. Walls of glass frame the water from nearly every principal room.

A metal and steel cable staircase and floating catwalk connect both levels. The primary suite opens to a walk-out balcony with endless water and palm framed views, served by a spa inspired bath with freestanding tub and glass shower.

Generous secondary suites, a game room beneath a statement chandelier, a media lounge, and a custom bunk room ensure a place—and a view—for everyone.

Outside: a resort pool at the water's edge, a covered cabana with full outdoor kitchen, steel cable balconies overlooking the lake and a private dock with slips and lifts delivering you straight into open water.

Personal property and furnishings available as a separate sale.

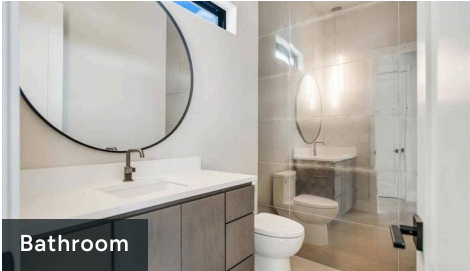

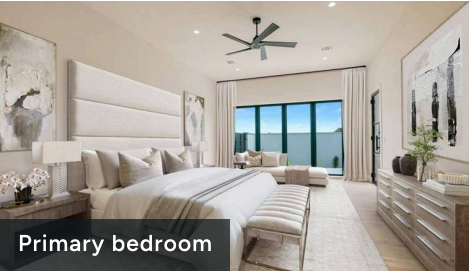

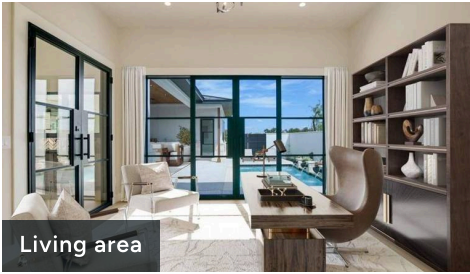

This is not a home with a water view. It is a home that owns the water around it.

LISTING SUMMARY

Set behind private gates on a quiet cul-de-sac within Applehead Island, this extraordinary Lake LBJ estate represents one of the most commanding waterfront offerings in Horseshoe Bay. Encompassing approximately 0.84 acres of pristine, park-like grounds and an astonishing 482 feet of open-water frontage, the scale and rarity of this homesite are virtually unmatched. The estate spans approximately 10,521 square feet and is thoughtfully positioned to capture sweeping lake views from nearly every room. Vaulted, wood-plank ceilings and expansive walls of glass flood the interiors with natural light while maintaining a constant visual connection to the water. Designed for both grand entertaining and everyday living, the home offers a formal living room with a dramatic fireplace, an expansive kitchen anchored by dual islands, a wine cellar and bar, and multiple gathering spaces that flow seamlessly outdoors. Outdoors, an infinity-edge pool and spa appear to spill directly into the lake, blurring the line between architecture and landscape. Beyond the pool, the grounds unfold into sweeping lawns, mature trees, and thoughtfully placed sitting areas that invite both quiet reflection and large-scale gatherings. Covered patios, outdoor living spaces, and uninterrupted shoreline views create a setting that feels expansive, private, and enduring. 82 Applehead Island is not a home that can be replicated. Its land, frontage, scale, and positioning place it in a category entirely its own. The boathouse is in the floodplain, the house is not.

Sources. Listing URL, price, key details, price history, photos and summary come from each property's page on alex.realestate (HLMLS, NTREIS and ABOR feeds). Prior ABOR listings and re-list dates come from the ABOR (ACTRIS) feed via Bridge.

Current MLS# is the most recent active listing for the address. Where a property is in more than one MLS, the others are shown beside it.

Days Since Initially Listed is the number of calendar days from a property's initial list date to October 4, 2026. The initial list date is the first day of the current marketing period. A marketing period carries back through any earlier listing, in any MLS, that expired, was terminated or was withdrawn within the 365 days before the property was listed again. It starts over after a sale, or after more than 365 days off the market. Days the property was off the market between listings are included. This replaces CDOM, which each MLS resets on its own rules.

Original list price is the first asking price of that same marketing period, so price changes on an earlier expired or withdrawn listing count toward the $ and % change. Applied here: 109 Island Ct runs from 11/08/2023 (withdrawn 09/04/2024, re-listed 10/11/2024); 120 Applehead from 05/12/2026 (expired 09/27, re-listed 10/02); 82 Applehead from 06/27/2026 (expired twice, re-listed 09/21). 105 Island Ct's last withdrawal was 596 days before its 08/18/2026 listing, so it starts fresh. 84 Applehead sold 12/15/2025, so it starts at 06/02/2026. Earlier listings are checked in ABOR; Highland Lakes MLS history before a current listing is not available to us.

Listing agents and brokerages come from ABOR and from alex.realestate. For 105 Island Ct and 221 Dominion, alex.realestate names only the brokerage; the agent name is from the broker-open flyer.

Trimmed by ALEX AI marks a listing summary that the MLS feed cut off mid-sentence. The unfinished sentence was removed.

Photos. Six per listing from its full gallery. Each listing's best lake view comes first, then the front elevation where jensen's vision model could confirm one at 0.80 or higher, then interiors. Every caption comes from that model (CLIP ViT-L/14, 0.60 confidence and 0.15 margin gates), never from MLS photo captions. Listings with no confirmable front elevation (109 Island Ct, 110, 51 and 82 Applehead) show a second lake view, a back-yard or an interior photo instead.
