THE DATA

18.9%

Share Aged 65 and Over (2024)

Taylor leads Williamson County and Texas in senior population share.

This 18.9% share — the highest in the state — reflects a demographic shift not driven by migration alone, but by long-term settlement patterns and aging infrastructure. The city's relatively low cost of living compared to Austin and Round Rock may be attracting retirees seeking stability over rapid growth.

01

Senior density shapes housing demand

This shift is not a sign of stagnation, but of maturity. As the population ages, the market is evolving from growth-first to sustainability-first.

02

Infrastructure must adapt to age

Taylor's strategic infrastructure investments are not just reactive — they are proactive, building resilience into an aging demographic.
